A FEW SEATS STILL AVAILABLE FOR DEACN BOB'S 2016 PILGRIMAGE TO ITALY

With time getting short, this is the last call for our Pilgrimage to Italy. "After taking a pilgrimage in May, to Rome, for the Jubilee of Deacons called by Our Holy Father Francis, I am more excited for all who are going on this trip with me. We will be in Rome towards the end of this Jubilee Year of Mercy, and going through the Holy Door of St. Peter's was such a spiritual experience for me, I wish it for ALL in our Deanery as we all will have the same opportunity in November, and then to have an audience with Pope Francis is awesome. Our trip includes Rome, Orvieto (the site of a Eucharistic Miracle), Assisi, Siena, Florence, Loppia (My hometown in Italy) and Venice; an 11 day trip." If you are interested, don't hesitate, Call Deacon Bob Ghiloni at 740-258-4912 or e mail at dcnbobg@gmail.com for information and your reservation. Seats are still available.

How Can We Not Share This Treasure? We believe in the Risen One who conquered evil and death! Let us have the courage to "come out of ourselves," to take this joy and this light to all the places of our lives! The resurrection of Christ is our greatest certainty; he is our most precious measure! How can we not share this treasure, this certainty with others? It is not only for us; it is to be passed on, to be shared with others. Our testimony is precisely this.

A Stewardship Moment: Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time Weekend of July 9/10, 2016

Today's Gospel turns our attention to one of Jesus' most familiar stories, the Parable of the Good Samaritan. It is about living how God intended us to live: to acknowledge God's divine love and compassion lavished upon us, and to extend that love and compassion upon others without reservation. We can find a lot of reasons for not stopping to help someone. We can talk ourselves out of being Good Samaritans. Strangers are not our responsibility, or are they? Good stewards understand that God's mercy is a gift that must be shared, and that doing the right thing, acting as Jesus would act toward others, is the only course of action for one who lives according to the demands of the Gospel. How might you be a Good Samaritan this week?

EUCCHARISTIC ADORATION – Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and Eucharistic Adoration is an amazing way to encounter Jesus Christ face to face. He is exposed on the holy altar for us and is truly present to us in His body, blood, soul and divinity. Let us take the time to come and kneel before Jesus in a most profound and intimate meeting where heaven is present here on earth. The graces and blessings he will shower on you and your family is unlimited. So come, let us adore our King!

Weekly adoration will begin after the 8:00 a.m. mass on Tuesday mornings and continue through the day and night until before mass on Wednesday at 11:00. We need a strong commitment from our parish to start this weekly adoration in the fall. Please, let Jesus know how much we love him. Call now and start the blessings flowing. Call: Barb Smith (740-668-2202), Denise Coffield (740-599-7710), Don Horn (740-668-3014).

Stewards of Our Neighbors: Jesus' Parable of the Good Samaritan

After many centuries of recounting Jesus' Parable of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:25-37) the story seems to have lost the "sting" Jesus intended for it. At the weekend Masses of July 9 and 10, we will once again hear the proclamation of this Gospel story which reveals Jesus' encounter with the legal scholar and his response to the question: Who is my neighbor? Perhaps now is a good time to reflect more deeply on Jesus' teaching and its practical implications for our lives today.

In the Gospel story Jesus affirms the legal scholar: "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your being, with all your strength, with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself." But the lawyer asks: "And who is my neighbor?" This is the question that prompts Jesus to offer a story revealing the vastness of God's mercy, and of course, Jesus' expectation of his followers.

It is significant that Jesus offers a Samaritan as the ideal model of God's mercy. Jews despised Samaritans as a lower form of humanity. So, of course, it provoked his audience when Jesus told of the priest, then the Levite, walking thoughtlessly by the half-dead robbery victim lying at the side of the road. It is the third man, the Samaritan, who stops, renders the victim first aid and generously pays the innkeeper in advance for taking care of the brutally beaten victim.

Jesus' parable teaches us that the neighbor is the person we encounter in our daily lives who is in dire need of our help. We are called to be good stewards of our fellow human beings, God's precious children whom we meet on our own journey in life. Our love and mercy are not confined to our families, friends, co-workers or fellow parishioners. The "sting" to the parable is that Jesus Christ expects us, his followers, to extend his love and mercy to others regardless of their race, religion, gender, culture, ethnicity or social standing.

Our Holy Father, Pope Francis, uses the Parable of the Good Samaritan to urge us not only to imitate the mercy of Jesus in our personal lives, but to have the courage and compassion to promote a culture of Christ's mercy in our society as well.

To be a disciple of Jesus Christ obliges us to love and show mercy to those we don't know or recognize as "one of us." The Samaritan in Jesus' story did not see a stranger, alien or foreigner. He simply saw a suffering human being who needed help. Jesus asks: "So who was the neighbor to the robbers' victim?" The legal scholar replied: "The one who treated him with mercy." Jesus said to the scholar as he would say to us today: "Go and do likewise."
